

One Day Workshop for Females on:

“Constitutional and Legal Rights of Women and their Role in Creating Peace in the Society” on 19 January, 2022.

Women empowerment has become the widest slogan of today’s world. Everyone seems to speak about this revolutionary dialogue. They can perform a key role in harmonizing the temperament of the youths, building social cohesion, supporting credible internal intermediaries with alienated groups and providing effective socio-economic alternatives to violence.

To achieve these goals, women have been empowered and their rights have been protected in the Constitution of Pakistan 1973 and other various laws of the land. Furthermore, the Constitution enshrines equal rights of all the citizens including women without any discrimination including right to education, freedom of expression, economic interests of vulnerable classes and engagement of the women in different sectors

In this regard, the shariah academy is going to organize a one- day work shop on “Constitutional and Legal Rights of Women and their Role in Creating Peace in the Society” on 19th January 2022, in which prominent experts and scholars will speak on different important areas.

The participants will include female faculty members, students, Judges, lawyers and other graduates from different educational institutions of Rawalpindi and Islamabad.

Rs. 300/- is fee for participation and the registration will be made on desk.

The participants will be awarded with certificates.
