

Dr. Sadia Nawaz

Dr. Sadia Nawaz has been working in the Department of Sociology IIUI since 2008. She completed her PhD from Agriculture University Faisalabad in 2019. She is the focal person of the department regarding co-curricular activities. She specializes in Sociology of Gender and Sociology of Politics and her broader research interests include women's empowerment and political participation of women. Some of the courses she teaches are; Introduction to Sociology, Sociological Theories, Research Methods, community development and Population dynamics. She can be reached at sadia.nawaz@iiu.edu.pk.

Selected Publications

1. Nawaz, S., Ali, R., Batool, S., Alauddin, Z. (2015). Use of internet among youth and its effect on library attendance. Pakistan Journal of Information Management & Libraries (PJIM&L), 16.
2. Nawaz, S., Maan, A.A., Zafar, M.I. (2019). Socio-cultural determinants affecting political participation and satisfaction of women councilors in Faisalabad. Pakistan Journal of Gender Studies.
3. Iftikhar, A., Farid, N., & Nawaz, S. (2021). Water conservation attitude of residents of Rawalpindi. Global Social Sciences Review, VI (II), 38-53.
4. Saif-ur-Rehman Saif Abbasi, Zafar, M, I., Nawaz, S., and Yousaf, F., N., Women health seeking behavior and its influence on their fertility performance: Utilization of pre and postnatal care. Pakistan Journal of Agricultural Sciences, 45(4), 2008.
5. Kamal, A., Rehman, A., Ahmed, M., Nawaz, S., The relationship of emotional expressivity and life satisfaction: A comparison of male and female university students. Interdisciplinary Journal of Contemporary Research in Business, 4 (11) copy right 661, march 2013.