Popular Scholarship Programs in China

1. Chinese Government Scholarship (CSC Scholarship)

Chinese government scholarship finance undergraduate, postgraduate, and Chinese language study programs, as well as research stays throughout the country.

Regarding the type of funding, the Chinese government scholarships are divided into:

- Total or type A Scholarship: Includes registration fees, accommodation (in a university residence in a shared room with another person), basic medical insurance and a monthly allowance for personal expenses (between 2,500 and 3,500 Yuan per month, approximately 350 and 500 USD respectively).
- Partial or type B Scholarship: It usually covers the same as the total, except for the monthly allowance for personal expenses.
- Type C Scholarship: Another type of partial scholarship that indifferently includes some of the benefits of the total scholarship.

2. Chinese Provincial Government Scholarships

- These type of scholarships are granted by the provincial governments, including the governments of the four Chinese cities called "municipalities under central jurisdiction" (Beijing, Tianjin, Chongqing and Shanghai), since they function as provinces in themselves.
- These scholarships are applicable to undergraduate, masters and doctoral studies, as well as to take Chinese language courses. However, not all universities have scholarships from their provincial government for all types of courses.

Chinese Provincial Government Scholarships cover registration fees, accommodation in a university residence (sharing a room and bathroom with another person) and health insurance will be covered.

3. Confucius Institute Scholarship (CIS)

The Confucius Institute Scholarship is very popular among students from all over the world. It is a government entity whose purpose is to promote knowledge of the Chinese language and culture throughout the globe. It annually offers numerous study grants in a total of 150 universities.

4. MOFCOM Scholarship

It is set up by Ministry of Commerce of People's Republic of China to further strengthen the communication and cooperation between China and other countries as well as to develop talents for developing countries. MOFCOM Scholarship mainly sponsors young and the middle-aged talents from recipient countries to pursue their postgraduate education in China and entrusts China Scholarship Council to manage the Scholarship. This type of scholarship is available for masters and PhD. MOFCOM Scholarships for International Students is valued at 36000 RMB/Year for each master's degree student and 42000 RMB/Year for each doctoral degree student.

5. Yes China Scholarship

The Youth of Excellence Scheme of China (YES China) Program, under the auspices of the Chinese Government Scholarship, is an initiative by the Ministry of Education of the People's Republic of China. This program aims to provide financial support to outstanding international youths who wish to pursue a Master degree in China. The program is available in selected universities and offered under certain conditions.
